YOUTH GROUP DISBANDS

THE YOUNG PEOPLE'S GROUP of Boston, after a great deal of deliberation, has decided to disband.

Ten years ago when the group was formed, there was a definite need for a Young People's Group. Today, young people are well represented in most groups. We feel that there is no need for a specialized group. The group is happy to report that most of its original members are active in other groups.

It is encouraging to know that young people can enjoy happy productive sobriety such as these original members are experiencing.
